

FIRE Tech Academy Presents

Building Construction for the Tactical Leader

April 25th-26th, 2024

This in-person course will start with basic construction types and methods and move on to tactical considerations based on what characteristics you see in a building that's been compromised. Practical thoughts and decision-making are based on how all types of buildings respond to fire, structural compromise, and deterioration. You will not look at the buildings around you the same after this class!
